

CAN'T JAIL THE SPIRIT:

ART BY POLITICAL PRISONER TOM MANNING

presented by Philadelphia Anarchist Black Cross

Can't Jail the Spirit exhibits Tom Manning's paintings of political prisoners, freedom fighters, the earth and people struggling against oppression. For his actions, he became a political prisoner and has taught himself to paint inside the prison walls. Tom's paintings transcend concrete and razor wire, and show that they still can't jail the spirit!

Street presentation begins @ 7pm in Olde City, during
First Friday on March 2, 2007.

Work from the show will be featured around the city throughout the month of March. Keep a look out for it!

For more information contact John Prisk at jgp@riseup.net or go to www.abcf.net.